

AMENDMENT TO THE ABSTRACT:

A system according to the present invention comprises: a reception server 11 for receiving an access request from a network; a registration receiving part 12 for searchably registering access information in a database 14, based on search condition information which includes plural words and an association word for semantically associating the plural words; and a DB managing part 13 for, in reply to a search request based on search condition information, searching for the search condition information registered in the database 14 to output the access information. With this configuration, the present invention allows accurate search for desired information.